

Welcome to MDNetlink.com

It's a fact. Families go online for answers to their healthcare related questions. Shouldn't your patients be directed to a digital resource they can trust - Your Web Site!

MD Netlink:
Your Internet healthcare community.

Our Philosophy

As the volume of health information online expands it seems anyone can abdicate their role as medical authorities. That's why now, more than ever, physicians should be able to provide, or at least direct patients to credible resources on the Internet. MD Netlink can help! We extend your relationship with your patients beyond the walls of your office and onto the world wide Web.

Your patients can get good advice from the nations's top hospitals, academies and support groups, or be misinformed by strange formulations claiming to cure everything from Cancer to AIDS. It's that very kind of unpoliced and inaccurate medical information on the Web that prompted a St. Louis based orthopedic surgeon to form MD Netlink.
